INNOVARE ACADEMIC SCIENCES

Innovare Academic Sciences: Knowledge to Innovation is amongst leading publication house of research journals of high repute in various fields. The group provides a platform for promoting and propagating sciences in various streams for enabling the budding scientists to explore discreet potential of innovations which may lead to newer discoveries and help in generating newer ideas, technologies and applications for a developed society.

The zeal to promote these innovations in pharmaceutical and health science has boosted us to organize International Conference Innopharm 1 on "Novel Frontiers in Pharmaceutical and Health Sciences". Through this conference we envision promoting research, exploiting potential and creating newer avenues for future innovations.

INNOPHARM 1

With the advents in pharmaceutical and health sciences the priorities and requirements of the fields has modified, the future paths needs to be restructured and created towards better health care. Innopharm 1 is an initiative to bring budding researchers, academicians and industrial experts of various countries from all over the World to discuss various innovations and advancements and to fabricate research associations between research groups globally. Through this conference we envision for creating newer venues for promoting research, exploiting potential of experts towards healthy society. Conference invites students, researchers, academicians and industrial experts to share their ideas, works and innovations in the field. It is a venture to collaborate allied components of pharmaceutical and health sciences on a global scenario to discuss, elaborate and expand growth in the field.
